

Honours in 2008?

Are you?

- Averaging over 70%
- Interested in Research?
- Wanting something more challenging?

Come to the Honours Information Sessions for students undertaking majors in

- Media (MDCM)
- Film
- Theatre and Performance
- Media Culture Technology

The Honours Program offers students the opportunity to enrol in an extra final Honours Year at University, during which students undertake a major research project. The Honours program is eligible to only the most dedicated and promising students in the School.

In order to be eligible, students maintain an average of over 70% in their Major and also meet certain course prerequisites within the various programs within the School.

Why Study Honours?

- You are interested in research and want to undertake an independent research project. (with one on one supervisory relationship with an academic staff member.)
- You want to develop higher skills to be used in research and production careers in media, public service and arts sectors.
- You want to undertake post-graduate study and pursue an academic career path. (Success in Honours can lead to post-graduate scholarship opportunities.)
